ISSC asks for budget increase

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

The Illinois State Scholarship Commission is requesting about $91 million for scholarships for the 81-82 school year which amounts to a little more than a 5 percent increase from its $85.8 million budget this year.

Ralph Godzicki, assistant executive ISSC director, said the commission's original request was for $116.7 million and included funding for summer school and intercession programs and an increase from $1,900 to $2,100 in the maximum award a student can receive at a private institution.

To try to budget for the estimated $91 million the ISSC has eliminated funding for summer school and lowered the maximum award to $2,000, Godzicki said. This will bring the budget to about $101.7 million.

The rest of the budget cut is scheduled to come from the 25 percent increase in family contribution to a student's education. Godzicki said this should amount to $12 million which would bring the ISSC to within its recommended budget.

He said the Illinois Board of Higher Education made the $91 million recommendation to keep within Gov. Jim Thompson's ruling on state spending.

"In November, to the General Assembly, the governor used the 5 percent figure as what he could support as the total increase in state spending," he said. "The Board of Higher Education then recommended this amount."

Godzicki said he expects the actual budget to be about $95 million because of the proposed tuition hike for public universities and an expected $2 million to keep the new academic scholarship program alive.

In previous years the legislature has always allowed additional funds for tuition hikes, he said. "I am very confident that will be the case this year."

The academic program began this year and provides 2,000 renewable awards of $1,000 each to high school graduates to use toward their education. The program was given $2 million last year and needs $4 million to renew the initial awards and to award 2,000 scholarships for 1981-82.

Godzicki said he did not know if the program would receive additional funds for next year.

"All programs are up for review," he said. "The commission is holding off sending letters to academic seniors until it sees how tight the year is."

Eastern Associate Financial Aid Director John Flynn said the Bureau of the Budget has also recommended a 5 percent increase over last year's ISSC budget, he said.

Flynn said he sees no hope for any funding for summer school and intercession programs.

"Summer school has not been funded since 74 or 75 and intercession has never been paid," he said. "The

Student Academic Affairs group reviews Textbook Library report

by Cathy Crist

The Student Senate Academic Affairs committee will meet for the first time this semester Thursday and will discuss problems with the Textbook Library.

The Textbook Library has recently been under study to determine the cost to students of renting books compared to buying books.

Robb said the committee will examine a report conducted by the university's Textbook Library committee, to help the committee decide on the future of the TBL.

"Based on this report, we may not need to do anything with the textbook library or we may need to take some steps to save it," he said.

The committee said it favors the current textbook rental system on campus and wants to maintain it. Many faculty members want to abolish the rental system in favor of buying textbooks.

A random survey of 150 students conducted by the Daily Eastern News showed 90 percent in favor of keeping the textbook library.

Other issues the committee will work on this semester include revising the current pass-fail policy and a new grade appeals policy, Russ Robb, co-chairman of the committee, said.

"We're doing some research on a policy that says if a student is on the pass-fail plan, yet gets an A in the course, he will then get the A instead of a passing letter," Robb said.

Several other schools, such as Southern Illinois University, use this system and are being contacted for further information, Robb said.

In addition, Robb said the committee would like to have the time period allowed students to choose the pass-fail option extended by one week.

"Now a student is only given a week to sign up for the pass-fail option, while at most schools a student has five or six weeks," he said.

A project which would change the grade appeals process is being carried over from last semester.

The committee devised a system last semester which would provide a more fair and accessible grade appeals policy, Robb said.

The appeals policy suggested that a student-faculty committee hear students' appeals if no compromise could be reached within the department.

The student-faculty committee's decision would be binding, he said.

Teachers are currently under no obligation to change a student's grade, even if recommended by a department grade appeals board.

Eastern students will not observe national holiday

by Sandy Young

Although Illinois public schools will be dismissed Thursday in observance of a national holiday honoring the hostages' return, Eastern students will continue to observe their classes.

The holiday was declared by President Ronald Reagan Wednesday.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said Wednesday he had consulted with Vice President for Academic Affairs Stanley Rives before making the decision not to observe the holiday.

"We both thought we (Eastern) were on the low edge of class meetings." The university needs days to fulfill a full 15-week semester, Marvin said.

He added the University of Illinois and the Board of Regents, along with the Board of Governors schools of which Eastern is a member, are not observing the holiday, thus Eastern is keeping "consistent" with their policies.

Marvin said if Gov. James Thompson had declared Thursday a state holiday Eastern probably would have observed the day.

Although Eastern students will continue to attend classes, public school children in Illinois will have the day off.

A secretary from the office of Regional Superintendent of Schools said Wednesday the office received a call from the state school board declaring the day a school holiday.

The state board decided to dismiss public schools for the day, but it has no jurisdiction over universities, she said.

Former hostages start return towards familiar hometowns

The freed hostages started returning to their hometowns Wednesday, to the friendliness and familiarity of smalltown America and to the people they grew up with. There were miles of yellow ribbons, hundreds of "Welcome" signs, and even some apple pie from neighbors.

"This is a real homecoming, coming back to your home neighborhood," Bruce Laingen, 57, told friends who crowded his front lawn in Bethesda, Md. "This sharing is a celebration of the feeling that this is the real end of the episode."

Laingen, who was charge d'affaires at the U.S. embassy in Tehran, then stepped up to an oak tree and tore off the yellow ribbon that had been tied there by his wife in November, 1979. Mrs. Laingen's actions became the symbol of hope for the hostages' release.

The picture of life for the 52 Americans during 14 1/2 months in Iran became clearer, meanwhile, as some of them gave details of their treatment—treatment apparently varied widely and included beatings for some. The former hostages tried to sort out their feelings.

"I want to expore in my own mind what I think may have gone wrong...Lessons must be learned from this experience," said Moorehead C. Kennedy Jr., 50, as he walked through his home in Washington D.C. pausing to touch familiar items.

Illinois farmers oppose U.S. limit on grain exports

URBANA—A University of Illinois survey shows that farmers in the state favor a renwal of the five-year grain sales agreement with the Soviet Union.

The survey of 1,500 farmers in the state also shows that they feel strongly that the United States should not limit farm exports for political or foreign policy reasons.

Thursday's (AP) News shorts

The Russian grain sales agreement guarantees the Soviets that they will be able to buy at least a specific amount of U.S. grain each year.

Former President Carter cut off sales to the Soviets on Jan. 4, 1980 because of their invasion of Afghanistan.

In case of future embargos, the farmers said they favor government price protection for their grain.

They also indicated they favor a law banning the purchase of U.S. farm land by foreigners.

Asked about fair prices for their 1981 grain, the farmers suggested an average price of $3.32 a bushel for corn, $9.01 for soybeans and $5.12 for wheat—higher in all three cases than the prices they recieved in 1980.

Reagan ends federal control on domestic crude oil prices

WASHINGTON—President Reagan abolished the last federal controls on oil prices Wednesday in the hope that higher costs for consumers will force more conservation in homes and spur increased production by the industry.

As a result, motorists may pay 3 to 5 cents more a gallon for gasoline in the days ahead, said Energy Secretary James B. Edwards. Consumer groups said the increase could be as much as 12 cents a gallon.

Edwards said the impact on home heating prices would be minimal, if there were any at all. Energy action, a consumer group, said heating oil prices could jump by more than 10 cents a gallon in February.

Edwards, a dentist by profession, readily admitted he did not now the full impact of Reagan's order and, at one point, said he was "a little confused" about some of the details.

"We did it because the president promised it in the campaign," Edwards said. "We think it's good for America and we certainly have studied it to some extent. I'm the new guy on the block and I must admit I don't have all the statistical data at my fingertips that you may desire."

Polish union workers strike crippling nation's industries

WARSAW, Poland—Millions of workers stayed off the job Wednesday in spreading wildcat protests that have crippled industries nationwide. The nation's largest trade union accused the communist government of creating "another dangerous crisis" by failing to live up to concessions won during last summer's widespread strikes.

The independent trade union Solidarity, in an apparent attempt to regain control over its local unions, also proclaimed a nationwide one-hour warning strike for next Tuesday.

At the same time, however, Solidarity urged an immediate end to the spontaneous local and regional protestors and reaffirmed its willingness to open talks with the government.

Solidarity accused the government of putting the "brakes" on agreements reached after last summer's strikes including a five-day workweek, union access to the news media and the farmer's right to form unions.

"The new wave of regional and local strikes starting in mid-January is the result of the polcies of authorities," Solidarity said in a communique.

"Attempts to forge agreements plunged the country into another dangerous crisis." Since last fall, the unrest in Poland has raised the possibility of Soviet intervention by divisions poised on the border.

Publications seek funds through Student Senate fee referendum

by Patty O'Neill

A proposal for a publication fee referendum was referred to the Auditing Committee for further study at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting.

The Publications Board last week approved a Student Publications budget based on an increase of $3.50 in fee support per student per year, an amount which would add an additional $35,000 to its budget.

In a proposal to the Senate, Student Publications Adviser David Reed proposed a $7 publications fee. This would become a separate fee from student activities fees, similar to the method the Intercollegiate Athletic Board is funded, he said.

The proposal will be voted on at the next meeting of the Senate. If the Senate approves the referendum, the issue would appear on the Feb. 18 ballot along with a possible fee increase for the Textbook Library.

Auditing Committee Chairman R.W. Monroe said the committee will review the proposal and make a recommendation to the Senate.

"I think there was a lot of confusion over the proposal. We will look at the budget in detail and report to the Senate," Monroe said.

Student publications—the Daily Eastern News, the Warbler and the Vehicle—are allotted $35,000 by the Apportionment Board from student fees.

The actual additional fee support asked would amount to $3.50 per student, Reed said. He said the amount student publications now receives could then be reallocated to other groups in need.

Reed said due to inflation and the rising cost of materials needed to produce the News, a new source of funds is vital.

"When I looked at the expenditures for this year, I noticed that we needed a new infusion of funds," Reed said.

"I think it would be practically impossible to get an additional $35,000 from our current source of fee support," he said.

Ted Gregory, editor in chief of the Daily Eastern News, said without the increase student publications will not be able to offer students the same quality paper or yearbook as in the past.

Reed said additional funds are needed so student publications will be able to repair and replace equipment as it breaks down.

"This budget is designed to hold expenses for a period of five years," he said. "It would hold fees, ad rates and at the same time allow us to acquire and replace equipment and provide for capital development."

The News' budget has been reduced consistently by the AB in the past eight years.

"When I came to Eastern in 1972, the budget for publications came to $25,000 in income and $72,000 in fee support, and the figure has gone steadily down over the years," Reed said.

The amount has been picked up by increases in revenue, "some by the yearbook and mostly by the paper," Reed added.

Reed said there are two alternatives to restoring the budget—either by added fee support or by increasing advertising revenues.

Raising advertising rates would not alleviate the budget problem, Reed said.

"If you look at the competition, my best guess is that our ad rate is about as high as it can get," he said.

Also, in a comparison provided by Reed, Eastern's total 1980 publications' budget received 7 percent of its $169,000 budget from student fee monies compared to the University of Mississippi newspaper, which receives 40 percent of a $160,000 budget from student fee monies.

The Mississippi university has an enrollment of 8,500 and is the only university of 10,000 or less other than Eastern to offer a daily newspaper.

Comparing newspaper size, the Mississippi university's paper averages 10 pages compared to the News, which averages 16.

Haig refuses Iran military equipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig said Wednesday the United States will refuse to sell military supplies to Iran and will not turn over equipment the Tehran government already has purchased.

Making clear the Reagan administration will continue to view Iran with great suspicion, Haig also said American businesses should use the "most careful caution" in future trade with Iran.

Haig indicated the United States will abide by the terms of the agreements that freed the 52 American hostages, although he said U.S. officials will want to be sure the Iranians are living up to their obligations under the agreement as well.

"The United States government will fulfill its obligations in accordance with both international law and the accepted norms of domestic legal practice," Haig said at his first news conference as secretary of state.

He cleared up one loose end not specifically covered in the agreements, which was the disposition of nearly $500 million in military equipment purchased but not shipped by the time the hostages were seized on Nov. 4, 1979. Then-President Jimmy Carter halted further shipments of the equipment in retaliation for the hostage seizure.

"Let me state categorically today there will be no military equipment provided to the government of Iran, either under earlier obligations and contractual arrangements, or as yet unstated requests," Haig said.

The Defense Department reported that Iran has paid for about $457 million worth of U.S. military equipment that was not delivered. Most of the gear is spare parts for U.S.-built jet fighters, tanks, helicopters and other weapons sold to Iran before the overthrow of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

The revolutionary regime now in control in Iran has not requested shipment of the equipment, and the subject was not raised in the long negotiations leading to the hostage release agreements, officials have said previously.

Search for A&S dean continues

Applications still being accepted

by Linda Fraembs

Seventy-one applications have been received so far as the search to find a dean for the College of Arts and Sciences continues.

The College of Arts and Sciences dean position has been open since last August when Dean Lawrence Ringenbreg retired. Jon Laible, formerly of the math department, is acting as dean until a new one is chosen.

Shirley Moore, chairman of the search committee, said Wednesday the cut-off date for submitting applications has been set for Jan. 31.

However, applicants will be given an additional two weeks to complete the application process by sending the university additional materials.

Moore said out of the 71 applicants, 34 have completed the process to date.

The search committee will screen the individual applications after all the materials have been received, Moore said. The committee will then select a number of candidates for the job and will submit their names to President Daniel E. Marvin.

The committee will probably submit five names to Marvin "but it may be four or six," Moore noted.

Marvin will then take over the selection process, interviewing individual candidates in person and making the final choice, she said.

"We have applicants from both within and outside the university," Moore said.

She added the position is being advertised in "The Chronicle of Higher Education" and other professional newspapers.

Moore said the committee has not been consulting with Marvin since he said he would prefer they use their selection procedure until the field has been narrowed to "about a dozen" candidates.

This committee is the second to be formed to screen applications for the open position. The first committee, formed last year, failed to find more than one applicant suitable for submission to Marvin.

"The problem in the first committee stemmed from the feeling that there weren't enough members from the College of Arts and Sciences," Moore said.

The problem has been solved by giving the college heavy representation in this committee, Moore added.

Current members of the committee include: Robert Barford of the philosophy department; William Butler of the physics department; Michael Goodrich of the zoology department; David Mauer of the history department and David Reed of the journalism department.

Edward Sherman of the chemistry department; Gerald Sullivan of the theater arts department; Rebecca Summary of the economics department; John Wright of the technology department; Pat Wright of the English department; and students Bonnie Bijack and Terry Teele. Jane Ziegler of Affirmative Action is an ex-officio member.

NCAA passes needed bylaws

We are pleased that the NCAA, at its 1981 convention, took steps in trying to help solve problems concerning womens' athletics, recruitment and academics.

The problem of women's athletic programs and their need for an NCAA championship system with the new governance program was accepted at the convention.

Providing women with the same opportunity as men for reimbursement of travel expenses is an amendment which is long overdue and one which we hope will lead to the overall improvement of women's athletics.

Along with the passage of the governance amendment, bylaws dealing with recruitment and academics were approved.

The establishment of recruiting schedules may eliminate the recent problems of students being illegally recruited. There will now be a limited number of months that colleges can recruit high school athletes. The time limit gives the smaller colleges a better chance to recruit athletes because those schools (like Eastern) cannot afford to send recruitment personnel throughout the year as can larger universities.

We also believe that requiring student-athletes to pass 24 semester hours two semesters before varsity competition will give them a better chance to earn a worthwhile college education. This rule may cut down on the instances of athletes using up their athletic eligibility and not having the necessary education to graduate.

All too often, college athletes find that after their days of playing collegiate sports are over, the education they failed to attain hurts them when they seek employment.

The failure of the financial-aid-based-on-need proposal is also a pleasant development. Although it almost passed, the delegates to the convention used good sense in not adding to the financial problems of collegiate sports by endorsing it.

If passed, the aid-based-on-need would have simply led to cheating on grant applications by some coaches and would only have multiplied the scandals within the collegiate athletics.

More measures similar to this year's must be taken by the NCAA, but these reforms are welcomed and should be followed up on at next year's NCAA conference.

Your Turn

Pro-choice is pro-life

Editor:

Have you stopped to think what an amendment to the U.S. Constitution banning safe abortion means to you? It means its creators believe that your life is not as desirable as fetal life. It means that you, if unwillingly pregnant, lose your guaranteed Constitutional rights to make reasonable and responsible reproductive decisions crucially affecting your life, your children's life, the life of your partner and other caring family members. It means you are under the control of the government. It means you are stuck with no choice.

A decree such as no-choice dictators propose compels you to be a mother against your will, against your conscience and against your very being. It refuses to acknowledge your personal beliefs as if you don't count, as if you aren't an American citizen, as if you'd never been born. No-choice is anti-family, anti-life and un-American.

Jan. 22 marks eight years of safe, legal abortion for American women. As full-fledged human beings we celebrate our guaranteed Constitutional rights, inherited by us by virtue of our birth. A no-choice amendment robs us of our birthright.

Pro-choice is pro-family. Pro-choice is pro-life. Join us in our struggle to keep abortion safe and legal. Help us to claim our rightful share of the original American dream—the freedom to choose our own way of life. Help us secure your right to life.

Media ignores return of 'Bald Spy'

President Reagan and ex-President Jimmy Carter have yet to make an official statement on the release of the 53rd hostage, but the rest of America is rejoicing.

The news of a 53rd hostage was revealed Monday in Gary Trudeau's "Doonesbury" comic strip, but the name of the hostage was not given.

He was referred to only as "the bald spy."

But Tuesday it was made known that the bald spy was really Zonker Harris' favorite uncle—Uncle Duke.

Uncle Duke was last seen in the Doonesbury strip on September 7, 1979.

He was standing blindfolded before an Iranian firing squad.

For months he was missing. Zeke Brenner, Duke's shady caretaker, even had Duke legally declared dead.

Now we know the truth, the firing squad was a mock firing squad and Duke was just a victim of the psychological torture that some of the other hostages were put through.

And soon we'll hear the rest of the story, the rest of the sordid details. We'll hear in detail Duke's stories of the mock execution and the other horrors the Iranians put him through.

But there will be time for those grisly stories later; now there is only time for celebrating.

Phram Oilfitler, president of the Uncle Duke fan club at

Andy Robeznieks

Eastern had this to say, "I knew he couldn't be dead, men like Duke don't die easy."

"I remember the first time Duke appeared in 'Doonesbury,'" Oilfitler said, "he was on the floor under his desk killing giant bats with his ruler."

Real giant bats?

No, not really," Oilfitler replied, "Duke had been drinking large amounts of tequila, and whenever he drinks large amounts of tequila he is prone to seeing giant bats."

When asked if his organization was planning anything special to commemorate Ambassador Duke's homecoming, Oilfitler said

"Yes, as you can see I have a yellow ribbon tied around my head and everyone in the fan club is doing the same."

While the jubilant mood surrounding Duke's return to the states has hit Eastern, the network news seems to have totally ignored the story.

WELH announcer Al Hibbert said he was "glad" to see Duke back but offered no explanation why his homecoming received no news coverage.

Maybe the situation will change with time.

Editor:

A church is for the public worship of God; an individual reads the Holy Bible in order to form a better understanding of the Word of God.

In my opinion, the Bible may be interpreted in many ways, with no single interpretation being completely "right." Therefore, no single interpretation should be forced upon a person by someone else.

I had a very unpleasant experience in July of 1980. The repeated attempts of Heritage convertees to force their interpretation of the Bible upon me was bad enough, but when one convert accused my church of "false teachings," the man went too far.

He implied that Heritage is perfect, and that other churches are all wrong.

In conclusion, one cannot be forced to convert to a church. There is no perfect denomination; they all have their good and weak qualities.

So my question is, are the members of Heritage Chapel simply devout followers of the Word of God? Or do they possess ulterior motives, such as zealously recruiting ever-increasing numbers of new converts?

Area contractors win bid for accessibility program

by Linda Charnesky

Contracts totaling more than $330,000 have been awarded by the Illinois Capital Development Board to four contractors for the construction of Eastern's accessibility project.

Construction on the project is to begin in mid-February.

The accessibility project is in accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 which says Eastern, along with all other Illinois universities, must be made accessible to the handicapped.

Eastern's project was designed by Upchurch, Davidson & Associates of Mattoon.

Marty Ignazito, assistant director of the physical plant, said Wednesday four contractors for general, elevator, plumbing and electrical work were given contracts by the CDB totaling $332,131.

He said the CDB budgeted Eastern's accessibility project for $397,856 with 10 percent of the money remaining going towards unexpected problems such as breakage.

"The amount was about $50,000 below the budget of the CDB," Ignazito said. "We are getting everything we asked for in the project but it cost less money than we expected."

A list of requests is made to the CDB and then they determine what is worth remodeling for the project, he said.

"If we'd known it came in so low (the bid) we'd have asked for more things," Ignazito said. He added he does not expect the CDB to allow for any additional work than what the contract states because "normally you get what you want and no more." amount of money remaining.

Firms receiving contracts for the project were H. Martin Construction of Rantoul for general work with the lowest bid of $201,789 and Long Elevator and Machine Company of Springfield for elevator work with a low bid of $78,880, he said.

Also receiving contracts for the accessibility project were Shepard and Shepard plumbing company of Mattoon with the lowest bid of $37,462 and Anderson Electric in Danville with a low bid of $14,000 for the electrical work, Ignazito said.

The accessibility remodeling project will involve adding elevators, widening stalls and installing grab-rails in restrooms, installing new water fountains and lowering existing ones and installing ramps, Ignazito said.

Other remodeling will include installing braille lettering and relocating light switches and exit lights.

Buildings to be remodeled are Old Main, Physical Science, Clinical Service, Fine Arts, Life Science, Applied Arts, Pemberton, Blair and Coleman halls, Life Science, Booth Library, and Buzzard Laboratory.

A ramp will also be installed on the west entrance of the University Union and curbs in 18 other locations on campus will be rebuilt to aid the handicap.

Colleges surge in the 70's

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—There has been a "dramatic" 48.6 percent surge in enrollments in Illinois' colleges and universities during the 1970s, State Comptroller Roland W. Burris said Wednesday.

Burris said there were 716,689 students enrolled in the state's colleges and universities in 1980 — an increase of 234,276 from 1970. Just over half of these enrolled in 1980 were in community colleges.

Burris attributed the 48 percent hike to steady growth in the state's community college system, plus increases in scholarship and student aid programs.

The bulk of the state's higher education spending, Burris added, still goes to universities, but he said the percentages show a new emphasis on community colleges and scholarships.

He said the university spending increased $271 million or 74 percent from 1971 to 1980, while spending for the community colleges grew $87.5 million or 180 percent.

Funding for the State Scholarship Commission more than doubled, he added.

"More state scholarship dollars and student loans are available than ever before," the report said.

While enrollments increased 9 percent at state universities and 14.8 percent for private colleges, community college enrollment soared 120 percent.

"Clearly, the community colleges appeal to those who must pursue higher education on a part-time basis," Burris' report said.

Meanwhile, tuitions in Illinois grew 75.6 percent for state universities and 109 percent for community colleges during the decade.

The "mean average" tuitions for the 1978-79 school year were $757 for state universities, $425 for community colleges and $3,160 for private colleges and universities, Burris said.

'Gra-Rec' after school activities offered by Charleston rec group

by Veronica Adermann

An after school program providing a variety of activities for children in grades three through six is being offered by the Charleston Recreation Department with the help of some Eastern students.

Sue Bartling, Assistant Director of the Recreation Department, said the "Gra-Rec" program is being offered "to provide children with activities to broaden their range of experiences and give them a basis for exploring and learning in different areas."

She added the program is also designed to increase children's social skills.

Bartling said "everyone is welcome" to attend the program, including children of Eastern students and faculty members.

Bartling said the program format was developed by the recreation department, but recreation majors from Eastern plan and supervise the activities.

"They're going to be the ones running it," she said.

Bartling said the program gives recreation majors a chance to gain experience in their field, in addition to earning credit for either field work or independent study.

Bartling said there are currently five Eastern students involved in the Gra-Rec program.

She said the students plan activities which include both competitive and non-competitive games, field trips, arts and crafts, music, drama and literature.

Nancy Daum, a junior recreation major involved with the program, said some of the specific activities planned include square dancing, bowling, and field trips to the post office and Charleston Times-Courier.

Daum also said the program will feature a number of guest speakers, including a member of the Humane society speaking on pet care.

Bartling said Gra-Rec will meet from 3:30 to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Jefferson Grade School cafeteria, beginning Feb. 3 and continuing through April 30.

CAA to assess TBL woes

The Council on Academic Affairs will continue its discussion about what its role should be in studying the problems of the Textbook Library system at its meeting Thursday.

CAA member Stephen Whitley said at a meeting in December the CAA's primary consideration in discussing the TBL will be the academic quality of the university's programs and courses.

The Textbook Library is currently under study to determine the advantages and disadvantages of purchasing textbooks as to renting them.

Ron Wohlstein, CAA chairman said the committee will also review a package of eight courses from the special education department.

The courses included for inspection are Special Education 3200, "Characteristics of Individuals Labelled Mildly/Moderately Exceptional," 3250, "Observation of Individuals Labelled Mildly/Moderately Exceptional: Learning Disabilities," 3260, "Observation of Individuals Labelled Mildly/Moderately Exceptional: Educable Mentally Retarded," 3280, "Observation of Individuals Labelled Mildly/Moderately Exceptional: Behavior Disorders."

Special Education 4520, "Facilitating Language in Children (birth to five-years-old) Labelled Exceptional," 4530, "Facilitating Language of School Age Individuals Labelled Exceptional," 4600, "Communication Skills and Community Services," and 4700, "Curriculum and Materials in Special Education."

The CAA meeting will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Tuscola-Arcola Room University Union addition.

Governor weighs public aid cuts

SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Armed with a new legal opinion, a state lawmaker once booted from the meeting of a powerful executive board demanded Wednesday that Gov. James R. Thompson open the board's sessions to the public.

Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, repeatedly has accused the Governor's Purchased Care Review Board of violating the state's open meetings act by conducting much of its business in secret.

"This board makes decisions affecting nearly $3 billion in human services purchased by the state," Mrs. Chapman said. "Yet the governor and his aides have, from the very beginning, arrogantly refused to allow the public and the press to attend their meetings."

Thompson created the board in mid-1977 "to review and approve all...rates" determining how much taxpayers pay hospitals and other private care providers.

Robert Mandeville, Thompson's budget chief and a past chairman of the board, had contended the board was "only advisory" and did not come under provisions of Illinois' open meetings law.

But a new opinion from the state attorney general's office was released Wednesday. It said: "It is clear that, as an advisory body existing to aid in the conduct of the people's business, actions and deliberations of the ... board must be conducted openly."

The opinion was written by Shawn W. Denney, chief of the attorney general's Opinions Division. He said it was not an official opinion of Attorney General Tyrone C. Fahner, a recent Thompson appointee.

"We have determined that it's clear that the open meetings act applies to the board," said Denney. "In other words, we don't think it needs a full-blown official opinion, and an argument that the act doesn't apply I don't think can be made."

China lecture will be given by Dawn Morville

Glenn Lefler, former chairman of Eastern's physics department, will open the 1981 American Association of University Professors (AAUP) lecture series with a discussion and slide presentation of his visit to the People's Republic of China.

The lecture will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Library Lecture Room.

Lefler was chairman of the physics department at Eastern for 20 years before retiring in 1970.

Lefler said Wednesday, areas to be covered in the discussion and slides include the Great Wall of China, the Forbidden City, Tian Men Square and the cities of Nanking and Shanghai.

Lefler said he has visited 80 countries on the continents of Europe, Asia, and the South Pacific, and has also visited other universities around the world.

"I visited these countries to learn to know the people and their way of life," he said.

He has previously taught at the University of Maine and Kent State University and has also been a visiting lecturer at the University of Hawaii.

Each year, the AAUP sponsors three lectures for students and the general public.

Two other speakers in the series will be John Faust of the political science department speaking on "Politics and Diminishing Resources" Feb. 15, and Donald Garner of the speech communications department will discuss "Language, Images, and Sounds of America" March 1.

The lectures are free of charge and open to the public.

Bureau of the Budget has said no funding for new programs this year. Summer funding has been so long ago that it is considered a new program."

Flynn said he was sympathetic to the ISSC budget problems.

"Traditionally the legislature doesn't pass money bills until very late in the session, usually June, and processing for awards begins the previous November."

If the ISSC misses its projection by 1 percent, that's a $1 million error," he said.

Godzicki said "there is pressure to improve our margin of error, but we are always subject to the statistics. We can't control the students' background."

He said the commission never knows in advance each students financial background, whether there will be an unusually high number of applications or if more students will be attending more expensive institutions than before.

The ISSC has a $5.8 million supplemental appropriation bill waiting for Thompson to act on. Godzicki said the supplemental appropriation is needed to finish funding awards for this year.

"We are hopeful it will be passed for the needs of the students," he said. "So far all we have heard is he opposes it."

Cause of fire still unknown

The amount of time needed to clean out grain bins at the Charleston elevator, Third and Railroad, has delayed the completion of the final fire report, Fire Chief Melvin Taylor said Wednesday.

Taylor had predicted Tuesday that a report listing a damage estimate and cause of the Jan. 19 fire would be completed Wednesday.

However, he said three large bins at the elevator had to be emptied before the damage estimate is completed, and only one of the bins was emptied Wednesday.

Taylor said the bins must be emptied to see how much damage the stored grain incurred during the fire.

He added this cleaning out process takes time.

Former hostage relate stories, enjoy freedom

by the Associated Press

In Wiesbaden, West Germany, Dr. Frederick W. Plugge, the commander of the hospital where the former hostages spent their first days of freedom, said relatives and friends should remember that the 52 are not "freaks" or "men from outer space."

The returnees—almost two dozen of whom will go to New York for a ticker-tape parade on Friday—got the same kind of joyful, tumultuous greetings in their hometowns that they have gotten everywhere since their release from Iran eight days ago—from Wiesbaden to West Point, N.Y., to Washington.

But on Wednesday, there was a difference. The cheers were from the people they knew, the people who rang church bells for them, wrote letters to them and suffered with them through 444 days of captivity.

Robert O. Blucker, 53, of North Little Rock, Ark., said, for example, that he was beaten by his captors during the second day after the takeover of the U.S. embassy in Tehran on Nov. 4, 1979. He also said he spent two three-month periods in solitary confinement, was left unfolded for six hours at a stretch and was guarded by "a monstrous dwarf with a huge head and no neck."

In an interview on the flight from Washington to Indianapolis, Kupke also said he was physically abused during his captivity. He said he didn't want to go into details now, but added: "I have some real horror stories to tell."

Barry M. Rosen, 36, of New York City, said in an interview on CBS television's "Morning" that he was not tortured in the "classical way," but added: "Denying my human rights is the highest torture in the world."

RHA program seeks to curb campus crimes

by Rose Marie Meegan

Residence Hall Association member Karla Kennedy said all that is left to initiate a "Whistle Stopper" program here is to generate community support for the project.

The idea was introduced last semester and is a program designed to encourage people to help each other to prevent crime. Each participant would have a whistle to alert people nearby they need help and to assist or call the police, she said.

The success of the program depends on the support of both the university and the Charleston community working together. The RHA Student Life Committee is informing the university about the program and informing the town still remains, Kennedy said.

RHA members have contacted the Charleston and Eastern police departments and support so far has been promising, she said. She said she has been making appointments with various other groups to gain more recognition of the effort.

Kennedy said she hopes the "whistle stopper" will be initiated around early March, but the support must be there before whistles are issued.

In addition to the crime prevention program, the RHA is working on its major project, Little People's Weekend, scheduled April 24-26.

Kiwanis Club to recognize Circle K Club

by Peggy McMeen

The Circle K Club will be formally recognized by the Kiwanis Club when it holds its charter party 7 p.m. Saturday with a banquet in the Charleston Holiday Inn.

Joan McGovern, Circle K vice president, said the party will be held by the local Kiwanis Club to honor and formally recognize the charter of the Circle K Club.

Circle K is an international service organization associated with the Kiwanis Club. Circle K President Louise Zaloudek started the club on campus last semester, McGovern said. The purpose of the club is to provide service to the campus and community.

She said the club has a few activities planned for the semester which include selling candy bars, tentatively by the end of next week. The proceeds will go toward an all-district convention to be held in April in Chicago

The club has 15 members. All college students are welcome to join, she said. Meetings are held at 7 p.m. every Wednesday in the University Union addition Neoga Room. For more information on the club contact Zaloudek at 581-3508 or McGovern at 581-3701.

Gov. Thompson's board accused of violation of open meetings act

Mrs. Chapman and another legislator were ejected from a board meeting in December 1979 after the board had heard testimony on proposed rate increases.

UB decides on new president

by Peggy McMeen

The new chairman and vice president of the University Board were elected at the board's weekly meeting Tuesday night.

Elected as chairman was Al Seipker, current head of the UB Graphics and Promotions Committee. He will relieve acting chairman Chuck Marley March 1. Bob Becker was elected vice president without opposition.

Two members of the board, Steve Tarrant and Steve Jones, were elected as delegates to accompany Seipker to the national conference in San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 18-22.

The UB is also planning a dating game for Feb. 14 in honor of the UB's anniversary.

Fieldhouse to host open meet

A track meet open to all interested runners will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Lantz Fieldhouse.

Eastern cross country coach Tom Woodall, organizer of the event, said Feb. 1 is the first day of the meet, adding that there will be another meet Sunday, Feb. 15.

"It will be an informal track competition, which is not a varsity meet, but will be open to students and other interested runners," Woodall said. "There will be competition for men and women and there will be divisions according to ability."

The meet, which has no entry fee and offers no awards, will have its first of the four-event competition begin at 3 p.m.

"We have have a 2-mile run to start things off, followed by a 440-yard run, an 880 and a mile run," Woodall said.

Ricky Robinson, who finished the game with 24 points, came alive by tallying three of his seven second-half buckets in the first three minutes and led Eastern to within one point of the Bears at 49-48, with 10:10 remaining in the game.

But Liliensiek and Bear guard Mark Lance, who finished with 23 and 14 points respectively, continued to riddle the Panthers' defense with inside and outside shots and put the Bears ahead by nine, 59-50 with 7:29 remaining.

"It took so long for us to come back in the game that we were tired trying to come back," Samuels said.

But Eastern continued to come back by breaking the Bears' zone with the outside shooting of guards Vincent Smelter and Rico Ellis.

The Panther guards combined to hit five 18-foot shots and Ellis' bomb with 3:37 remaining gave Eastern the lead 64-63 for the first time in the game.

Liliensiek and Panther forward Eddie Jones, who scored a season high 16 points, exchanged baskets before Eastern called a time-out with 29 seconds remaining.

After working the ball in, Jones put up a 15-foot shot which fell off the rim.

Robinson rebounded and also hit the rim and the ball caromed out to Ellis who popped a 20-foot shot that put the Panthers on top 68-67 with five seconds remaining.

Southwest Missouri then called time-out to set up Liliensiek's winning shot.

Lance received the in-bounds pass and weaved through the Panthers 1-2-1-1 containing zone press down to the top of the key, drawing two Panthers on him.

Lance saw Liliensiek open on the baseline and fed the big center, who's shot at the buzzer lifted the Bears to victory.

Eastern's stats better than record in MCC

Although Eastern's basketball team boasts a mere 1-2 Mid-Continent Conference mark, its overall league statistics are much more favorable.

Possessing the second best defense in the MCC, Eastern has allowed just 69.7 points a game while holding its opponents to a 45.8 field goal percentage.

Northern Michigan is the league leader, giving up just 65.6 points an outing and allowing adversaries to shoot at a 41.7 percentage from the floor.

The Panther offense, however, does not have the numbers of its defense.

Scoring an average of 73.6 points a game, Eastern is third in the four-team conference and is shooting a 48.9 mark from the field.

The MCC offensive leader, Western Illinois, is averaging a whopping 82.8 points an outing, while shooting for a 49.4 average.

Individually, Panther forward Ricky

Robinson is the conference's second leading scorer, averaging 18.8 points a game.

Western's Joe Dykstra is the MCC's No. 1 point producer with a 19.5 averaging.

Robinson is also mentioned in the league's top five in free throws, rebounds, steals and fouls.

Panther guard Rico Ellis is tied for fourth in the conference in free throw percentage hitting at a 80 percent mark.

Bears' last second shot ends Panther streak

Eastern forward Ricky Serkin gets his shot blocked back in his face by (14) Anthony Boggs during the Panther's 69-68 loss to Southwest Missouri State Wednesday night. (50) is Ed Liliensiek, who made the last second shot that beat Eastern. (News photo by Lance Thackrey.)

by Steve Binder

Ed Liliensiek ripped the net with a 10-foot baseline jumper at the buzzer to give Southwest Missouri State a 69-68 victory over Eastern in basketball action Wednesday night at Lantz Gym.

The 6-foot-10 center's shot with no time on the clock killed the Panthers' three-game winning streak and caused some frustrating comments from Panther head coach Rick Samuels.

"We just haven't any breaks all year," Samuels said.

The Panthers set-up the climatic finish by coming back in the second-half after a sluggish first-half performance had put the Panthers down by as many as 13 points.

Samuels said he felt his squad's poor performance in the first-half had emulated its efforts in its Jan. 5 meeting, which Southwest Missouri won 71-67 in Springfield, Mo.

"We were just not alert in the first half. We didn't play hard in the first half. When we played flat we gave them confidence just like in the game at Southwest Missouri," Samuels said.

Another reason the Panthers eventually trailed 37-28 at halftime was because of the Bear zone defense, which Samuels felt before the game might cause his squad some trouble.

"In the first half we looked like we had never encountered a zone before. They have been real successful with their zone," Samuels said.

Fourteen first-half turnovers is indicative of the Panthers' troubled first-half performance.

"I didn't say anything to them in the first half. What could I say—I can't pass the ball for them, I can't shoot for them. I told them to prepare themselves to play a better second-half," Samuels said.

And play better the Panthers did.

Gridders sign two recruits

Eastern's NCAA Division II runner-up football team has signed two more junior college football players for its 1981 squad.

Defensive back Jordon McAreavy from Ellesworth Community College in Iowa and wide receiver Tom Park of Eastern Arizona JC have signed scholarships to attend Eastern, assistant head coach Chuck Dickerson said.

McAreavy earned All-State honors as a strong safety for the Ellesworth club which was ranked No. 2 in the nation in 1979 and No. 7 this past fall.

"He intercepted 10 passes the past two seasons playing at strong and free safety," Dickerson said.

"He's a great competitor and with two holes to fill in our defensive backfield, we're hopeful he can move in," he said.

Park caught 47 passes for 13 touchdowns last fall in a run-oriented offense, Dickerson said.

"He has 4.5 speed, came in here in good shape and did well in our weight testing," Dickerson added.

Savegnago to confront Shrine Meet challenge

by Dan Brannan

Two-time All-American Geno Savegnago, Eastern's 190-pound wrestler, will face the challenge of his life Monday when he travels to Columbus, Ohio to wrestle against Iowa State's John Forshee in the East-West Shrine Wrestling Meet.

Savegnago was chosen by the National Association of Wrestling Coaches to compete in the meet.

Savegnago was not holding back his pleasure of his selection by the coaches to wrestle in the meet and said, "I was very honored at my selection by the East-West Shrine Committee."

Savegnago was rated No. 1 in the NCAA for all Divisions in Amateur Wrestling News's wrestling poll earlier in the year, but a December loss caused him to slip somewhat in the rankings. He is currently rated No. 5 in the nation.

And while Savegnago is regarded as one of the top 190-pounders in the nation, he has yet another year to improve himself.

"I redshirted as a freshman which gave me this extra year of eligibility," Savegnago said.

Savegnago has wrestled at the heavyweight classification during the course of the season, but he plans to tick with the 190-pound division during the rest of the year.

"I wrestled heavyweight to help out the team because our regular heavyweight wrestler was out for football," Savegnago said.

The Panther heavyweight which Savegnago mentioned was freshman Kent Lawrence, who will make his debut this weekend.

While Savegnago has had a prosperous college career thus far, he had a very successful high school wrestling career.

He was state champion at 185-pounds during his senior year at Glenbard North High School.

Savegnago said when he was choosing which college to go to, Eastern coach Ron Clinton had a lot to do with his decision to come to Eastern.

"I heard a lot about Clinton, and Eastern was close to home, so I decided to come here," Savegnago said. "Also I didn't know if I could handle going to a big school."

Although Savegnago has had much to be thankful for already this season, he said his major goal for the year is to win the Division II championship at 190.

"I would also like to win Division II as a team because this is our last chance," Savegnago said.

Next season, Eastern advances to the NCAA Division I level of competition.

Geno Savegnago is declared the heavyweight division winner over North Dakota's Steve Plieffer in last week's 22-18 victory over the Bison. Savegnago will be travelling to Columbus, Ohio Monday to wrestle in the East-West Shrine Meet. (News photo by Tom Roberts.)
